Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disorderly course of life, stomach trouble, &c. About a year ago I tried the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, I began to feel great uneasiness. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

results from that contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kan., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. H. Kidder, 41 Dwight St., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterport, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofulous might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of

FOREIGN GLEANINGS.

M. DE FREYCINET FORMS A NEW CABINET FOR FRANCE.

The State as it Will Probably Appear Under the New Regime—Sketch of the Premier's Life—Germany's Complaint—Snow in England.

Mr. De Freycinet will form a new cabinet and is now engaged in the task of selecting the members. Several members of the late ministry will accept portfolios in the cabinet of M. De Freycinet that France has been allowing Carlists to have on the Spanish frontier and to receive arms and money in violation of international rights. These facts have been reported to Senator von Münster, the foreign minister by Count von Solmsen, who is guided by Count von Solmsen, the German minister at Madrid.

The following will probably be the new cabinet:

M. De Freycinet, premier and minister of foreign affairs.
M. Cousin, minister of the interior.
M. Sadé-Carnot, minister of finance.
M. Spuller, minister of public instruction.
Gen. Devour, minister of war.
M. C. E. Denoix, minister of public works.

Pierre Le Grand, minister of agriculture.
Herve Mangon, minister of commerce.
M. Marrian, minister of posts and telegraphs.

Gen. Guillerot was minister of marine until recently, but resigned just before the downfall of the Brissac ministry, and his successor has not been named.

M. De Freycinet's cabinet, should be successful, will be a good one, and will be the twenty-third of the French republic in its fifteen years of existence, an average life of seven months to a cabinet. The following are the names of the members:

1. M. de Freycinet (Premier). Sept. 4, 1870.
2. Favre (Finance). Sept. 4, 1870.
3. Dufrane. Aug. 2, 1871.
4. Dufau (reconstruction). May 18, 1871.
5. M. de MacMahon (Interior).
6. Due de Broglie (Foreign).
7. Gen. de Cassey. May 22, 1871.
8. Gen. de la Motte-Picquart. June 1, 1871.
9. Dutarte. March 1, 1871.
10. Jules Simon. Dec. 15, 1871.
11. Due de Broglie. May 17, 1871.
12. Gen. Gravier (Colonies). Dec. 15, 1871.
13. Duauze. Dec. 14, 1871.
14. Waddington (Grey). Feb. 4, 1870.
15. Gen. de la Motte-Picquart. Dec. 15, 1871.
16. Gambetta. Jan. 31, 1882.
17. Freycinet. Jan. 31, 1882.
18. Gen. de la Motte-Picquart. Jan. 28, 1882.
19. Faillères. Feb. 21, 1882.
20. Ferry. Feb. 21, 1882.
21. Gen. de la Motte-Picquart. Jan. 4, 1882.

M. De Freycinet is now fifty-seven years of age. He received his professional training in the Polytechnic school, and, after serving in the army, was appointed to the Paris government engineering enterprises for several years. He first became prominent in politics in 1869. After the revolution of September, he was appointed professor of his department. M. MacMahon attracted the favorable attention of Gambetta, and when that statesman, the 10th of October following, took possession in the provinces of the office of minister of war, he appointed Ferry as his aide-de-camp, and intrusted him with the supreme control of that department.

With the conclusion of peace Dr. Freycinet retired to private life, but was engaged in the government of Saine, his native province, and was elected to the National Assembly in 1869. In 1870 he was appointed to the ministry of foreign affairs, and was re-appointed to the same in 1872. He was intrusted with the formation of a new cabinet.

In January, 1882, Dr. MacMahon was overthrown by the gerardin de la presse proposal in the chamber of 360 to 110. Dr. Freycinet, who had been recalled to power, and again took the presidency of the naval and the foreign portfolio. His reign, however, was brief.

July 30 (yesterday) he died at sea for safety. The gerardin were rejected by a majority of 40 to 75, and he at once resigned, contending that as the chamber had declared in the plainest possible terms against intervention in Egypt, he did not dare to propose a resolution which would be compelled to a passive acceptance of England's action. strenuous efforts were made by President Grey to induce him to withdraw his resignation, but without effect. Finally, after much difficulty, a minister of affairs was formed with Dr. Freycinet as president of the new cabinet.

When the Ferry ministry was overthrown in March, 1883, Dr. Freycinet vainly tried to form a new one. Dr. Ferry, M. Brocard, and Dr. Faillères, the three recalled to power, and again took the presidency of the naval and the foreign portfolio. Dr. Freycinet has been looked up to as the guide, philosopher and friend of the moderate Republicans and legitimate successors of Gambetta.

He is the author of a large number of scientific and technical works, which have passed through many editions and have translated into nearly every known language.

Her last testimony would not be a positive witness of the laxity of France in keeping order on the Spanish frontier if revolutionists should succeed in inciting an insurrection to stop the progress of the ministry proposed to M. De Freycinet that France has been allowing Carlists to have on the Spanish frontier and to receive arms and money in violation of international rights. Snow in England.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Snow has fallen throughout England during the past eight hours, and now covers several inches in depth. Travel is difficult and dangerous. Many roads are entirely suspended. The telegraph wires are down and communication by this means, with many outlying points is wholly prostrated.

An Emancite Emanated.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A dispatch from London to the Times says that fully ten thousand rebels, composed of Dacots and others, are assembled within a twenty-mile radius of the town of Tonquin, and are threatening the place, and that an emancite is feared.

A Religious Census.

Practical Work Proposed by the Evangelical Alliance.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—The Evangelical alliance of this city has just determined upon a most novel and promising system of religious work.

It was resolved to procure a "religious alliance" of Cincinnati, by which a practical association of every denomination and individual, with their religious beliefs, if they have any, hopes and condition. This union will be made of skill and experience.

Each member will be given a fund of information which will be very valuable to the churches in their "soul work."

At the Second Presbyterian church, corner of Eighth and Elm streets, about fifty members of the Evangelical alliance, representing all the various denominations, met yesterday to consider this great question. It was almost unanimously resolved to prosecute the work at once, and a committee for this purpose was appointed by Dr. L. W. Joyce, the chairman of the Evangelical alliance.

Each denomination is represented in the committee, and the members of it are directed to confer with the officers of their church as to how the proposed work can best be accomplished.

The "L" Lockout.

A Big Surprise to some of the Employes.

Chief Arthur speaks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The lockout on the Second and Ninth avenues elevated railroad was a genuine surprise to the engineers and firemen, who were engaged in a strike for higher pay. The men were greatly indignant among the men. Chief Arthur, who was called upon at his headquarters, said: "All things considered General Manager Hains' treatment of the men is quite reasonable, and should not share my indignation." Mr. Hains had been ordered by his master not to make any further call to order him, and he remained in his room.

Both sides are agreed that the men should be reinstated to or near to their former positions.

Mr. Hains, who was subsequently called upon in regard to his action, refused to say anything.

An Order.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—It is now asserted that the Master Electric railroad company, which was ordered by State Railroads Commissioner O'Donnell to resume traffic on the Ninth and Second avenues, has nothing to do with the strike, and that the company has been done away with by myself nor the men to warrant such a procedure, and it was wholly illegal for the company to do so.

We are quite anxious to know what the company has done with the men.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1866.

Ir has about been settled that Ireland will get some sort of home government.

THERE are 1,122 paper mills in this country. The total number in existence is 4,296.

A Cannon which throws a 1,050-pound ball is calculated to make a big noise and do effective work. This is the largest made in this country, but thanks to our peaceful disposition, it is not called into requisition very often.

Next Monday promises to be a gala day at Columbus, Ohio. Hooley will step "down and out," and Foraker will step up and in. The inauguration ceremonies are expected to be quite recherche — "don't you know."

ACCORDING to M. E. Ingalls, President of the "Big 4," General C. P. Huntington will soon begin the construction of a bridge across the river at Cincinnati in order to connect the C. & O. road with the central depot at that place.

The Canadian women are more fortunate than their sisters on this side of the St. Lawrence. For the first time in the history of Toronto they were allowed to vote last Monday. It is hardly necessary to add that they were solid for the temperance candidate.

The inhabitants of the island Inishbofin, off the west coast of Ireland, are in a deplorable state of suffering. The potato crop was almost a total failure, and the catch of fish, upon which they rely to a great extent, has been insignificant. Famine is staring them in the face.

Bosron's "pet," John L. Sullivan, has brought himself into prominence once more. He has been doing some more slugging, but this time his victim was a weak and inoffensive newsboy of New York. The slugger was drunk and succeeded in knocking out three of the little fellow's teeth with an umbrella and otherwise mistreated him, and all because the child wanted to sell him a paper.

It has been decided by his attending physicians that Keene, the tragedian, who was stricken down at Kansas City the other day, owes his present trouble to the habitual use of tobacco. He was seldom, it is said, without the use of a cigar for five minutes, and the continued use of the weed brought on what is termed paresis—a sort of relaxation of the nervous system. It is thought he will recover.

Says the New York Sun: "It is most important that there should be no unnecessary friction between the President and the Democratic party. In the interest of both no quarrel and no conflict should be permitted. On all questions of principle and of high policy the Democracy should take its own independent course, just as Senator Beck has recently done in Congress; but there should be peace, not war, and every effort should be made for cordial co-operation."

The election frauds at Cincinnati will probably receive at the hands of the Ohio Legislature the investigation that they well deserve. The Committee on Privileges and Elections has been authorized to incur all necessary expenses in such investigation, and the impression prevails that it will be deliberate and searching in the inquiry. The people of the country are anxious to know just who was at the bottom of the frauds. The chances, in the light of the latest disclosures, are that the Republicans will be shown up in their true colors.

To the Point.

The Southern Trade Gazette "hits the nail on the head" in the following:

"There are many persons who do not stop to think that the space in the columns of a newspaper or journal is a commodity, for sale the same as any other article of merchandise, and that the publisher, like the merchant, makes his living by selling at a profit, either to the subscriber to the paper in the shape of reading matter, or to the advertiser who buys so much space for his individual use. It would be regarded as the very quintessence of what is commonly called 'cheek' for a man to go into a store and ask the proprietor to give him a bag of flour or any other article without pay, yet this same thing is done with impunity by the publisher of a newspaper."

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Rev. E. O. Ware has removed his place of abode from here to Maxwell, where he proposes to engage in a quiet life.

The opening of the markets on last Thursday and Friday nights was a perfect success and the crowds were immense.

Our people still think the "ride route" is the route that God intended for a railroad, but if Huntington don't see it that way, what will he do?—John D.

A COMMUNICATION.

MR. HALE SPEAKS ON THE POST-OFFICE SYSTEM IN MAINE.

A Terrible Seating—Arguments Pro and Con—Both Sides of the Story—The Doings of the Day in the House—A Remarkable Petition—Notes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The chair laid for the senatorial election from the state was transmitting plans for a wharf at Fort Monroe, Va., and for school buildings at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; also a letter from the postmaster general relative to the appointment of postmasters in Maine through the alleged influence of H. S. Brown, chairman of the Democratic state committee of Maine.

Mr. Hale said that it was very difficult to count the people that the result of the session of Congress should not be the result of the party service. Above all the country desire we should have a pure civil service; there should be no taint of politics; and if any man was turned out, the Republicans expected to go. The president's course had been conservative, and though the president had refused to make a general appointment, persons had been appointed in the state, and nothing was done and nobody scandalized. The chairman of the Democratic state committee, gave up his law practice closed his office and came to Washington.

Democrats and Republicans alike complained that out of 100 appointments made in Maine 87 were made on Mr. Brown's influence. Several of these letters to Mr. Hale were read. One of Mr. Brown's letters had come to Mr. Hale with the remark that he had been made of the infamous system on which the proceedings complained of had been based.

Mr. Hale read a letter of Mr. Brown's in effect that the persons receiving appointments were not fit for the position, and that he, Mr. Brown, had secured a large number of appointments to post offices. Mr. Hale said that the Republicans had not been perfect, but in twenty-four years he had never heard that public officials had been made of any man that he believed he spoke for the honest conservative Democrats of Maine when he denounced the course of the Democratic committee of Maine and Mr. Brown.

Mr. West characterized Mr. Hale's speech as a cant. His colleague Mr. Cockrell and himself had found unmistakable evidence of the use of money under Republican administrations in the attain of office and they could convince the members of Congress that money had been used.

Mr. Voorhees sympathized with the Republican postmasters who had been turned out. They would go out to it after while as far as for sub-traitor at New York.

Republican capitalists have purchased a controlling interest in the Boston Advertiser and that paper will probably be straight in its politics hereafter.

Debate was closed by the reference of the communication to the committee on civil service reform.

Mr. Gray then called up Mr. Beck's report concerning the amount of the value of customs duties in coin and the application of that coin to the purposes of the sinking fund, etc. He would vote for it, but for coin very different from those which actuated Mr. Beck and those who taught with him.

Honest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The speaker laid before the house the senate joint resolution tendering the thanks of congress to the governor and people of Ohio for a statue of James A. Garfield and accepting the same. The resolution was laid on the table for further consideration.

The call of states for the introduction of bills and resolutions was then resumed. Among the bills introduced were the following:

Mr. Sney, of Ohio, to repeal the civil service act, also to retire trade dollars.

Mr. Wilkins, of Ohio, to provide for the issue of circulating notes to national banking associations.

This is the same bill introduced by Mr. Wilkins in the last session, and it is to be introduced again.

It shall be entitled to circulation equal to the par value of bonds deposited to secure the same, but not to exceed the actual paid in capital of such bank.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The pro tem. of senate laid before that body a very remarkable petition, from Sarah Kelly, of Homestead, Pennsylvania, widow of a poor, penniless widow, who lost nine relatives in the war for the Union, including a husband, father, brothers, brother-in-law, cousins, sons, and wife, because she wasn't a member of the church, and she had to arm herself. She asserts that she is possessed of rare merit and does not ask as much as other women do in similar circumstances, but wants congress to pass a bill appropriate to her case, and that she deserves such a salary as will enable her to live in comfort and the perpetuation of the Union.

Mr. Hoar's Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Among the bills introduced in the senate was one by Mr. Hoar to fix the time for the meeting of congress. It fixes the time for the meeting of congress, and provides that the session may thereafter, on the first Monday in October and in 1857, and every second year thereafter, on the second Monday in November. Mr. Hoar, in introducing the bill, says it must be conceded that the business of the country is increasing so fast that longer sessions of congress are necessary.

Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Postmasters, Thomas Ryan, at Sainte-Sole Marie, Michigan; Charles Holliday, at St. Louis, Missouri; J. C. Morgan, Kearney, Nebraska; and James Shilds, of Montana, to be collectors of internal revenue for the district of Montana.

Cigars Seized.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 7.—Eight thousand and cigars branded "Our Leader, New York Cigar Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin," have just been seized by Collector Wall for violation of the law against packing in boxes containing five each, forty of these being then packed in a larger box. The law provides that not less than twenty-five cigars shall be in each box. Edward C. Morris, who was handling the cigars, claims to have been innocent of any attempt to violate the revenue law, and it is thought probable the government will pursue the case no further.

Gros-Yon Please.

ELGIN, Ill., Jan. 7.—In the seventy-four hour day-spring-plough race, the following pedestrians will participate: P. Fitzgerald, James Magher, Peter Golden and Peter Hageman, of New York; W. C. Hagland, of Auburn, Daniel Herty of Boston, Gus Gummers, of California; Tom Muffett, of New Orleans; Jerry Cronin, J. G. Moore, J. Moran, J. C. Little (colored), and C. Ray (colored), of Elmira.

Connecticut Legislature.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 7.—The Connecticut legislature has opened its session. Maj. John A. Tibbits, of New London, was chosen speaker of the house. Austin L. Browne, of New Haven, and Wm. C. McCollum assistant clerk. After organization was completed the two branches met in joint session and listened to the reading of the governor's message. Both branches then adjourned until Tuesday.

Pennsylvania Rain.

FORTRESSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 7.—The colliers in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys have drawn out, and but few of them can return before Monday. Throughout the country hundreds of stores and dwellings are flooded and damaged and the lives of many will be lost, the damage in millions of dollars. A landslides occurred on the Little Schuylkill railroad, and during the rest of the day blocked travel on that route. Several hundred tons of earth and rocks, loosened by rains, buried the railroad tracks for a distance of 200 yards.

Now Hang Him.

SPEECHES, Jan. 7.—Col. Howard, a prominent citizen of this city, was arrested, charged with having assassinated A. Ward, ten years old, and Sarah Mitchell, eleven years old. While the constable was reading the warrant Howard whipped away a six-shooter and commenced blazing away, but two shots fired before he was unarmed took no effect. Howard was held in $5,000 bonds.

A Minister in Jail.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 7.—A colored minister by the name of Campbell was found guilty of solemnizing a marriage between Mrs. Mary Campbell and George A. Anderson, a colored, and sentenced to ten days imprisonment in the county jail by Judge Piso, of the common pleas court.

No. 16.

WASHERSTON, Jan. 7.—Col. Lamont stated that no money would be sent to the senate as aid for sub-traitor at New York.

Railroad News.

While at Ripley recently, a representative of the BULLETIN met Colonel E. Buell, President of the long talked-of Columbus and Maysville Railroad, and Mr. W. B. Fenton, the Chief Engineer of said road. During the conversation that followed, Colonel Buell stated that he would begin the work of locating the route of the road from Ripley to Georgetown this week. Two or three surveys had been made, but no certain one had been decided upon. The work of laying the rails between Georgetown and Sarina will begin by the 15th of this month and be pushed to completion. The rails for the entire road (to Ripley) had been contracted for, and the road would be thought, be finished to that city by the first of next June. Colonel Buell said: "If I have suitable weather, I can complete the road from Georgetown to Ripley in sixty days after the rails have been laid and work begun." When asked if his company would extend the road to Aberdeen and this city, he replied:

"That has been our intention all along. If your people up there will do what is right with us, we will build the road to Aberdeen by the first of August. I think

I can show your people that it will be to their advantage to give us aid. I cannot say yet what subscription we may ask of them, for the reason that I haven't looked over the route and made an estimate of the cost of construction. Governor Hart, of Hillsboro, and I expect to visit your city ere long and talk the matter over with the citizens. We don't expect to stop at Maysville, either.

"The company which I represent is engaged at the present time in building a narrow gauge through Virginia to Pound Gap. It is our intention, ultimately, to complete the road from Maysville to Pound Gap, running through the rich mineral and lumber regions of your State. It will be a through route east and west, and will be the great narrow gauge system of this country. As I said before, I think I can, at the proper time, show to your people that it will be to their advantage to give us aid.

Colonel C. B. Childs and his engineering corps, consisting of Messrs. James Shiell, Howell Barkley and Will Shackelford, are engaged this week in locating and staking off the route of the Maysville and Big Sandy road through the Fifth Ward. The route selected will cross Limestone Creek below the Second street bridge, and will run through a part of the way as far up as Lexington street. The committee appointed last week will go to work in a few days and do what it can to aid in securing the right of way from owners of property in this city.

The Mikado.

The Leland Opera Company will appear at the opera house Friday and Saturday, January 15th and 16th, in the above named opera. Two performances on the latter day—matinées in the afternoon.

The following notice of the company is taken from Parkersburg:

"This Japanese success has had a huge run, having fairly jumped into popular favor. The little maid, 'Yum-Yum,' as played by Mrs. James F. Kearney, is a character, sure to captivate the male portion of the audience. Mrs. James F. Kearney, as 'Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner,' is a tremendous hit, and Mr. George A. Crump, as 'Pish-Pash,' is a生力军. The Mikado is proud and adds much interest to the last act. The company is a good one and deserves to be well received. The excellent business to which it is playing."

Notice.
